

Uniden releases Smart 4K wired security with AI alerts for tailored 24/7 surveillance

Uniden is set to release a 4K Network Video Recording (NVR) wired security system, optimising 24/7 recording and monitoring for homes and businesses wanting maximum visibility and security coverage.

The Uniden Guardian App Cam

4K NVR system provides users with the option of an 8 or 16 channel 4K (8MP) NVR setup, paired with any combination of cameras to suit every situation and location. The corresponding 4K bullet and 4K dome cameras deliver 4K resolution, which is four times the resolution of 1080P, to capture, view and replay quality footage. Both camera types are weatherproof with an IP66 rating. And while both are suited to interior and exterior usage, the Bullet camera tends to be chosen for outdoor installations, while the Dome camera is flexible enough for either environment.

Mounting options are made easy with the Power Over Ethernet capability, meaning you only need one cable for each camera. This setup is flexible enough to be used in any location - from home surveillance to businesses and even warehouses. The 4K NVR offers AI smart alerts for person, vehicle and motion detection, and up to 30 metres of night vision for coverage around the clock, navigating its surroundings with a viewing angle of 87 degrees, horizontally.

The Uniden Guardian 4K NVR provides enough onboard storage to continue recording 24/7 from 8 or 16 cameras – 2TB on the 8 channel model, or 3TB on the 16 channel model. Access vision and audio playback via smartphone or tablet using Uniden's Solo App, making it easy to view the cameras, receive alerts, and even communicate through the cameras with two-way audio. AI enhancement ensures notifications are received when people or cars are detected, while reducing the number of false alerts.

The Uniden Guardian 4K NVR is also compatible with wireless cameras like the App Cam Home+ and App Cam Spotlight+, making it simple to connect a Wi-Fi camera where it's not possible to run an ethernet cable.

The mix-and-match package enables users to tailor this system to each environment, with cameras providing high quality images every time, and the app offering convenience and peace of mind with streamlined notifications.
